Residential Lobby Project

Location: Zaferanieh , Tehran

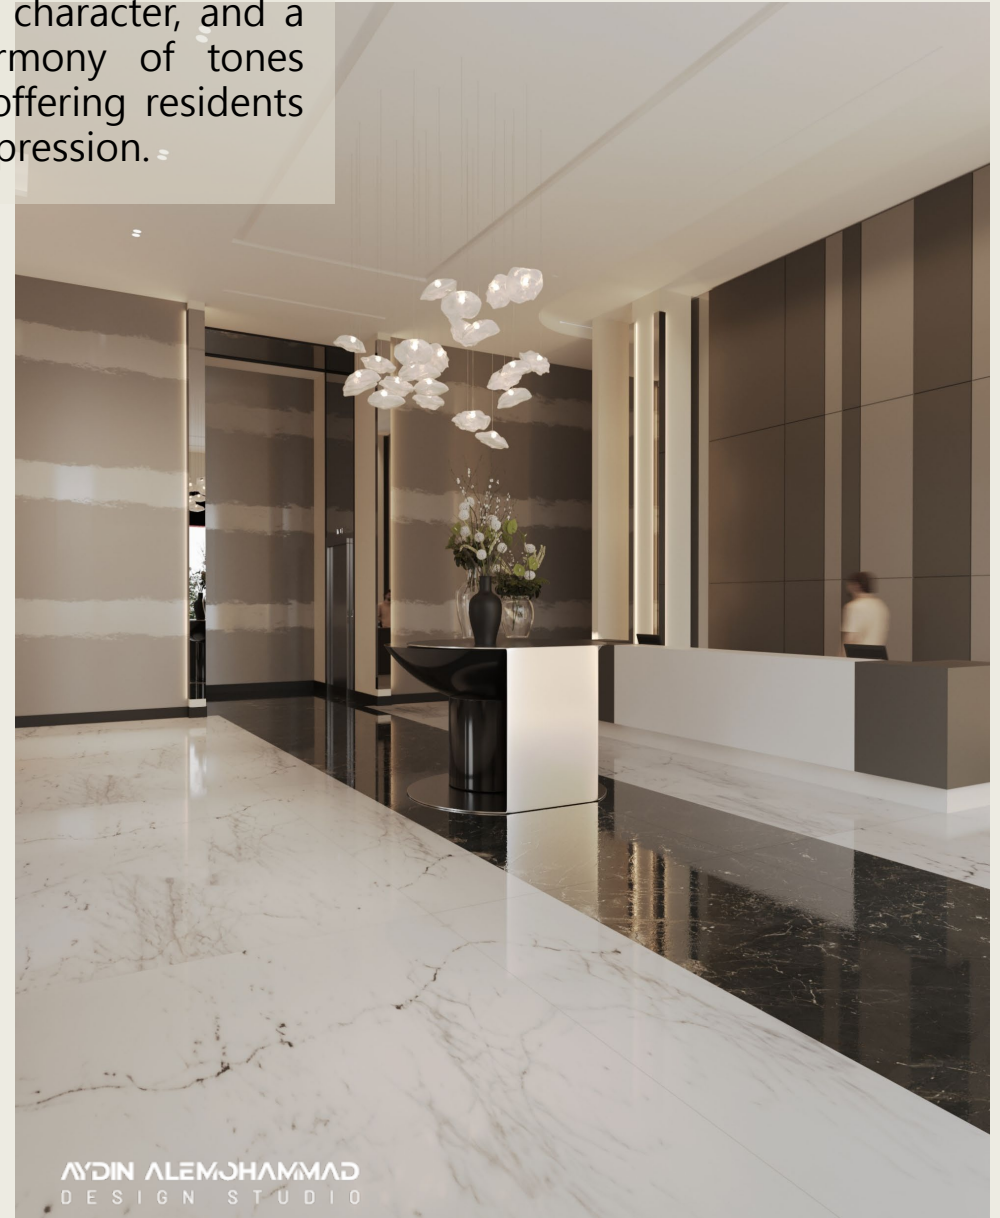

Area: 320 Sq.m

Year: 2025

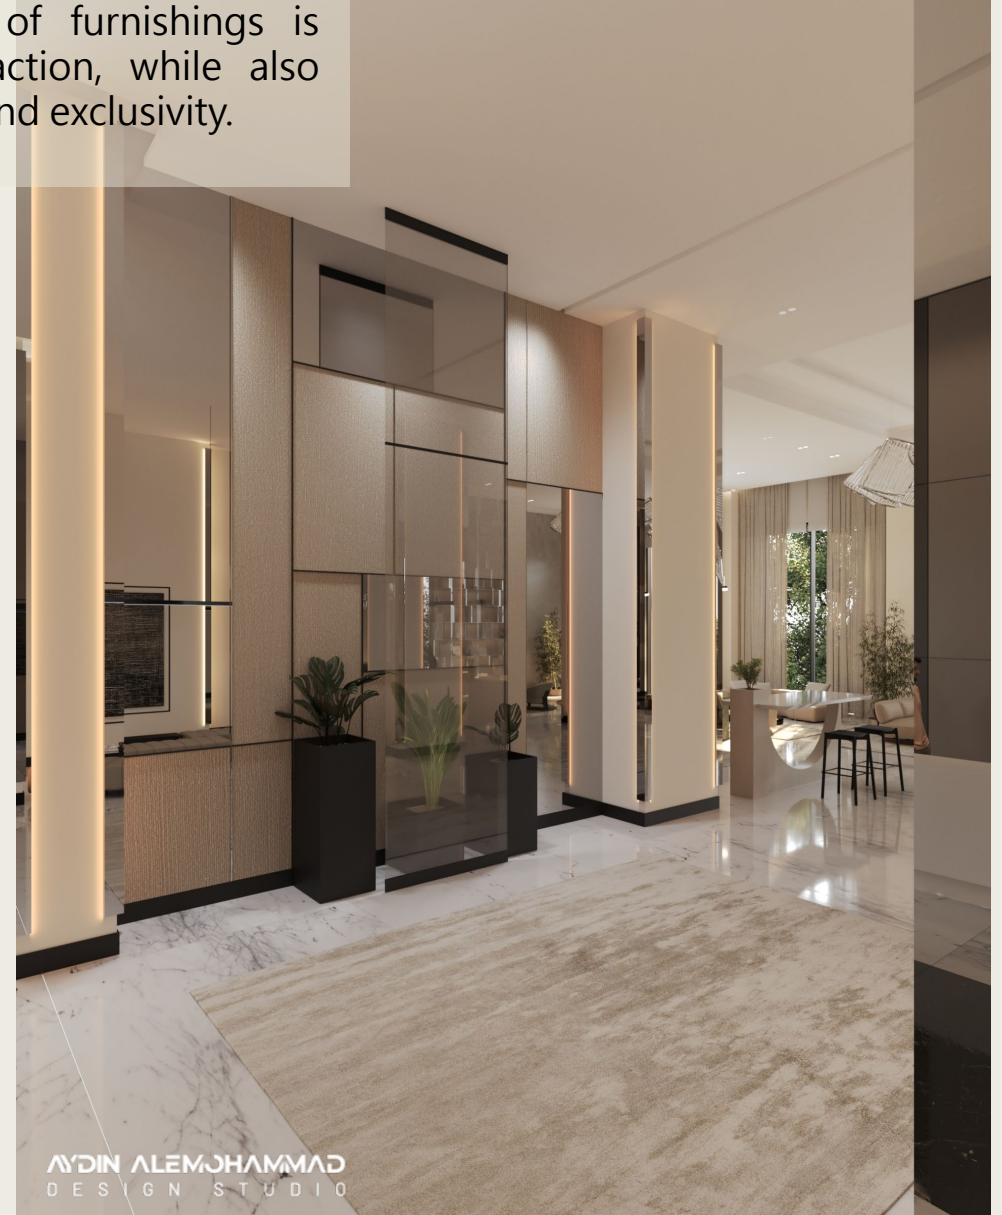

The residential lobby has been envisioned as a refined and welcoming gateway that sets the tone for the entire living experience. The design concept combines timeless elegance with contemporary sophistication, creating an atmosphere that feels both luxurious and inviting.

A neutral color palette forms the foundation of the space, enriched with subtle touches of deep burgundy to introduce warmth, character, and a sense of distinction. This harmony of tones elevates the overall ambiance, offering residents and visitors a memorable first impression.

Luxury furniture pieces have been carefully selected for their sculptural quality and comfort, ensuring both aesthetic impact and functional excellence. The arrangement of furnishings is designed to encourage interaction, while also maintaining an aura of privacy and exclusivity.

The entrance is conceived as a grand, welcoming gesture, framed by architectural elements that emphasize scale, symmetry, and elegance. Lighting plays a central role in the design: a combination of ambient, accent, and decorative lighting highlights textures and materials, accentuates the architectural lines, and creates a dramatic yet harmonious atmosphere.

Premium finishes—such as polished stone, rich wood accents, and metallic details—further emphasize the luxurious character of the lobby. Carefully curated artworks and decorative elements enhance the sense of sophistication and cultural refinement. Overall, the lobby is not merely a transitional space, but a statement of prestige and lifestyle: modern, luxurious, and inspiring confidence in every detail.

— Farhang Building Lobby

Location: Sa'adat Abad, Tehran, Iran

Area: 150 Sq.m

Year: 2025

The design of the Kashi Lobby project exemplifies a refined blend of elegance and contemporary boldness. The space is structured around clean geometries, soft-toned surfaces, and sculptural furnishings that evoke a sense of calm sophistication. A dramatic reception counter in black marble anchors the space, complemented by backlit textured stone walls that lend depth and atmosphere.

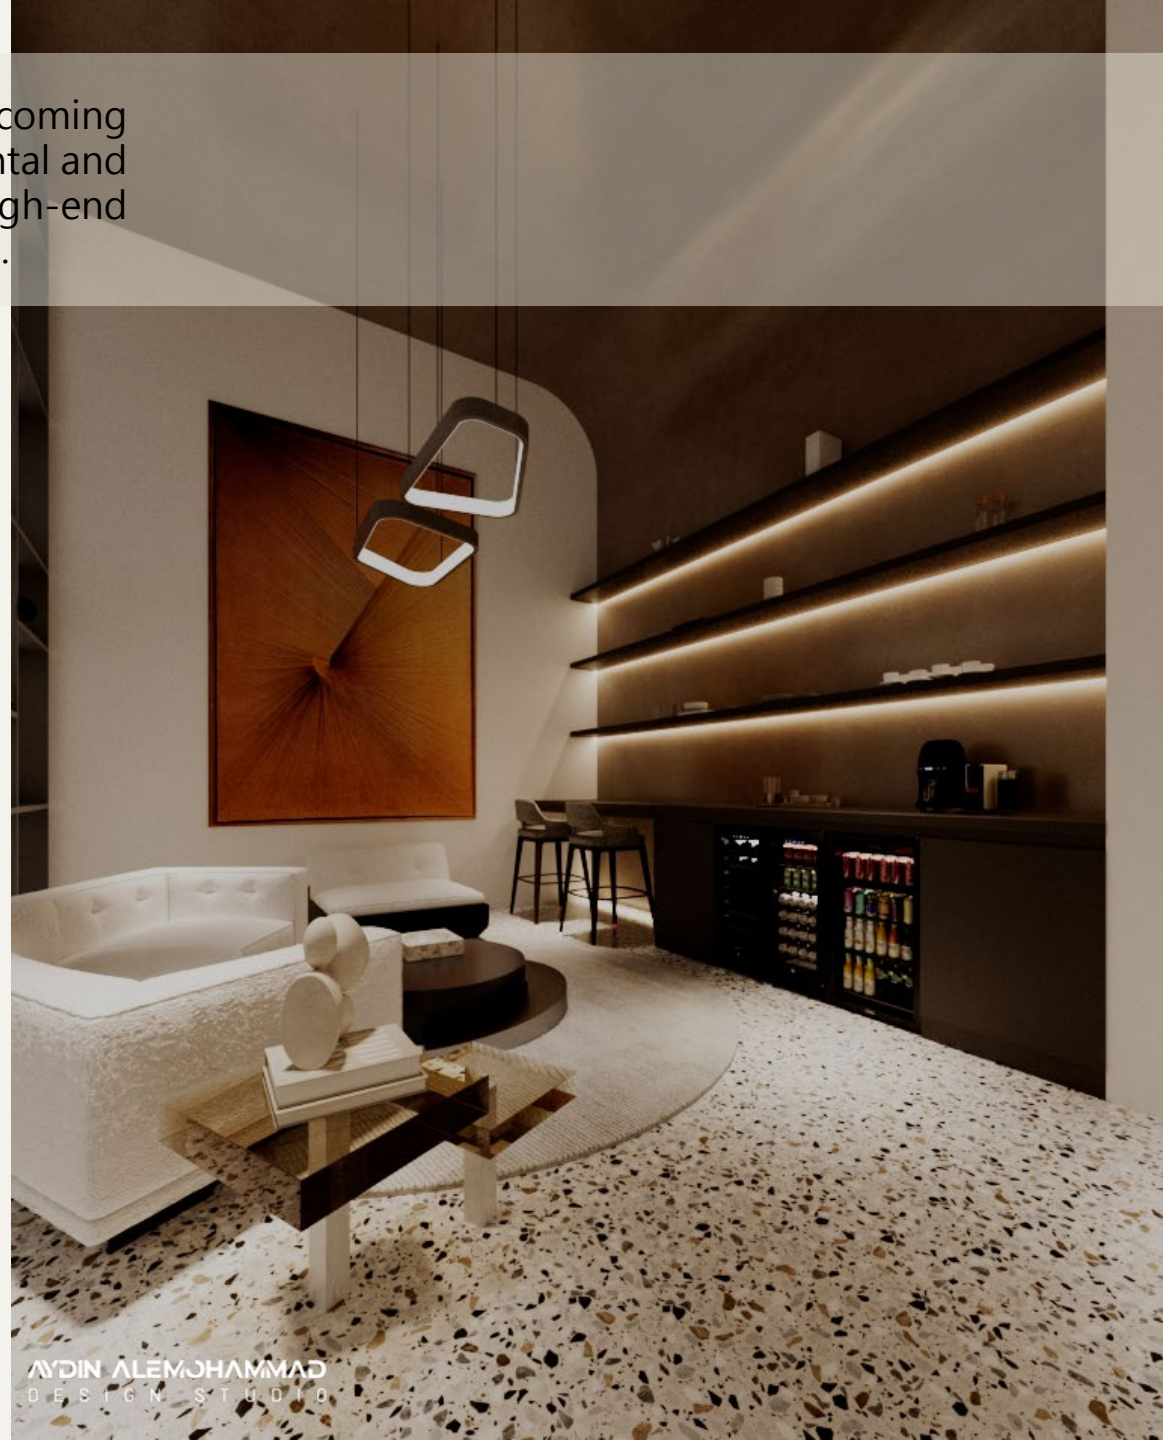

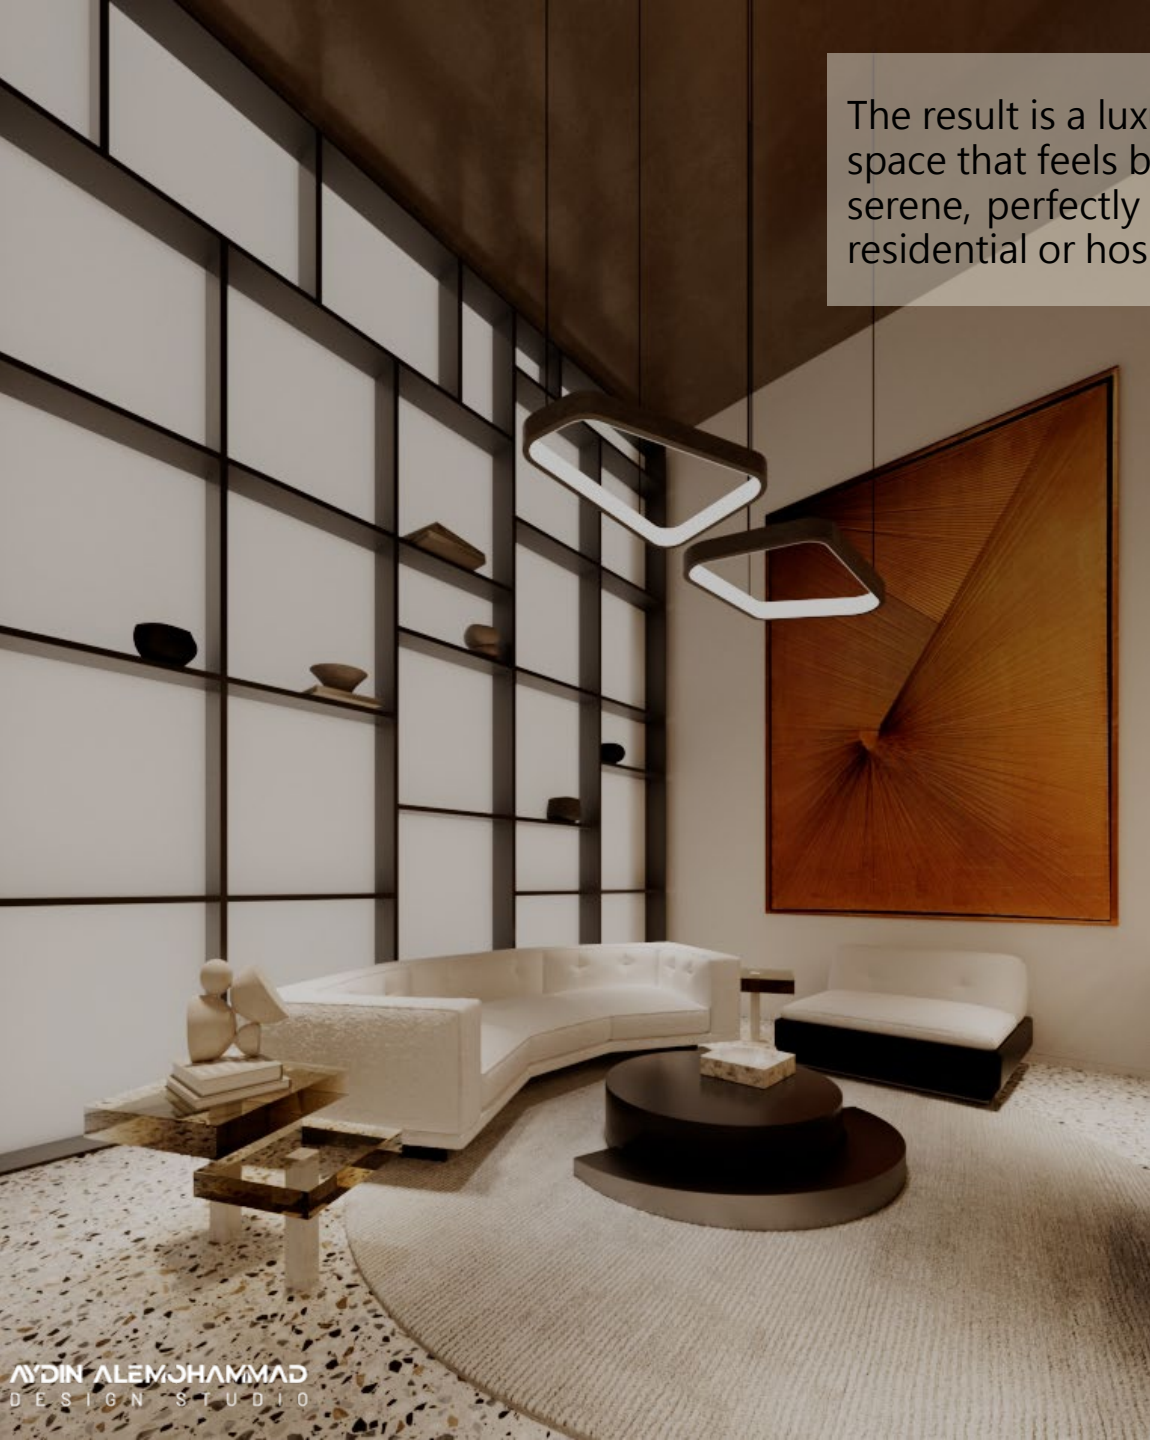

The lobby unfolds through multiple seating zones, each curated with modern pieces in creamy and mocha hues, and accented with greenery and abstract art. Layered lighting — from delicate pendant clusters to integrated shelf lighting — enhances the architectural forms while inviting warmth and intimacy.

The result is a luxurious yet welcoming space that feels both monumental and serene, perfectly suited to a high-end residential or hospitality setting.

— Hyatt Lobby

Location: Bookan, Tehran, Iran

Area: 80 Sq.m

Year: 2024

The Hyatt Lobby residential project is a contemporary interpretation of luxury and functionality, blending dark sophistication with warm modernity. The design features a harmonious composition of custom furniture, layered lighting, and tactile material palettes. The lobby's main seating area is defined by herringbone wood flooring, rich earth-toned upholstery, and ambient shelving illuminated by integrated LED strips. Black metal accents and clean linear forms echo throughout the space, reinforcing a sense of architectural clarity.

The private meeting and dining zones are marked by expressive terrazzo flooring and soft, indirect lighting, establishing a grounded yet artistic atmosphere.

With thoughtfully curated materials and spatial transitions, the Hyatt Lobby offers a refined, inviting environment suitable for both social interaction and quiet retreat.

Fereshteh Lobby

Location: Fereshteh, Tehran, Iran

Area: 300 Sq.m

Year 2023

The design of the Fereshteh Lobby project redefines luxury through a symphony of materiality, scale, and sculptural composition. The lobby features a dramatic use of polished stone flooring and dark linear ceiling panels that guide the eye through a series of curated spatial moments—from a sleek white reception desk framed by a crystalline lighting installation to an artistic seating area accented by an abstract tree sculpture.

Each zone is distinguished by rich textural contrasts, bespoke lighting, and contemporary furniture in muted tones. Reflective surfaces and soft ambient lighting enhance the sense of depth and grandeur, while lush greenery and curated art pieces infuse the space with serenity and cultural refinement.

This lobby embodies a refined narrative of elegance, crafted for an upscale residential experience.
